

Become a Diabetes Advocate Today

Legislators and policy makers need to hear from health care providers like yourself.

Share your experience and expertise: Sharing information about the importance of affordable access to medications, supplies, education, and technology for people with diabetes can support meaningful policy change.

Be an expert: Health care providers are often needed as expert panelists for technology, treatment, or medication reviews.

Your voice matters: Congressional and state legislators want to hear from you!

You can help the American Diabetes Association® change policies to bend the curve on diabetes and help those with the disease thrive.
