Become a Trainer.

The American Diabetes Association's award-winning Safe at School® campaign is seeking diabetes health care professionals to train non-clinical school and childcare staff on site. The ideal candidates will have experience in pediatric diabetes care and education to facilitate training sessions in schools. Trainers will use the ADA's training resources and materials. A stipend and reimbursement for related expenses such as mileage and printing cost will be offered to trainers.

Please join us. Together we can foster a culture of understanding and support within schools, childcare facilities, and other community settings, enabling children with diabetes to excel academically, socially, and emotionally.
